Scandal of the forgotten
NHS Aids sufferers

Colin McRae

"I am sure we've got to move away from the idea that there's some sort of death penalty for people who are HIV-
positive. If people are HIV-positive it is not an automatic death sentence. We need to get away from the time when people
said that in the early days of AIDS."

The Observer
21 April 1991

"...I'm sure we've got to move
away from the idea that
there's some sort of dead penalty for
people who are HIV-
positive. If people are HIV-positive it is not
a automatic death sentence. We need to get away from the
time when people
said that in the early
days of AIDS."

The Observer
21 April 1991